but in a culture that prefers confident, "bold" extraverts, it is harmful as well as mistaken to stigmatize all hsp as shy when many are not. i've either had doubts about the device itself or not had confidence in the vendor's customer support.